Cutter Tahoma In Port

The revenue cutter Tahoma arrived in port in the early evening Sunday and remained here tied up at the local wharf until Monday morning. She is on her way south from the season's work of patrolling the seal rookeries, and everybody aboard is mighty glad to be getting back to civilization again. She had on board part of the crew and equipment of the cutter Perry, wrecked while patrolling some couple of months ago. The latter vessel struck a reef in a fog, and a storm coming up, was beaten into a helpless wreck before she could be hauled off. The Tahoma carried, from Unalaska to Valdez where they will serve their jail sentences; the crews of two Japanese schooners captured while seal poaching during the past season.

Word comes from Portland that another baby, a girl, had arrived to grace the Matheson home. Both mother and daughter are doing well.

Youngster Breaks His Leg

Sunday afternoon, while playing on Wheeler's wharf, the little Anderson boy fell over the edge of the wharf to the beach below. The result was a bad fracture of the left leg near the hip. Dr. Shurick was called in and set the limb, and the little fellow is doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

New Restaurant Opens

Scott's Chop House opened its doors for business Sunday, and has been on the go ever since. As the name implies the place is a chop house and not a restaurant, but at the same time a specialty is made of the midday lunch, when roasts, stews and the like will be served. Mrs. Scott is a great baker, and her bread, doughnuts, pies and cakes are in steady demand.

John G. Grant will represent Wrangell on the grand jury convening at Ketchikan, Monday, October 24.

Spend Pleasant Evening

The social season at Petersburg opened Wednesday evening when a crowd gathered at the Petersburg schoolhouse and listened to a nautical program of a humorous character. The affair was given for the benefit of the new church which is to be one of Petersburg's most attractive buildings on the hill near the Wireless station, and netted a handsome sum.

P. T. Megaarden, of Minneapolis, presided and made the opening address in which he introduced the performers, and christened the male singers the "Petersburg Salmon Quartette." Mrs. Carl Swanson delighted her hearers with a vocal solo with guitar accompaniment. The quartette consisting of Messrs. E. W. Harper, W. O. Brown, Wm. Linscott and Delbert Linscott, followed with ocean songs, each number on the program being roundly applauded.

Mrs. Isabel Ambler Gilman gave a humorous talk in which she took her audience across the Atlantic ocean in a floating palace and made them acquainted with the various phases of mal-de-mer and other pathetic incidents of steamship life. Having deserted her hearers at Liverpool, it remained for the Salmon Quartette to bring them home to America; and this they did in the "Capital Ship" in a manner which brought forth vociferous applause and repeated encores.

Miss Alice Brown was the accompanist, and Philip Gaynor and Roy Brown acted as ushers.

Saturday evening the Sabbath School Society gave a farewell party at the home of Judge Miller in honor of Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Brown who leave shortly for Seattle, where Mrs. Brown will remain part of the winter. About forty persons were present.

Bag Plenty Of Game

With all the ducks and geese they could carry, a hunting party consisting of Cash Coulter, M. A. McNurney, Al Spader, Alex Vre-atte, Kenig Johanson and H. C. Horseley of Ketchikan, returned from the flats Monday evening. They report ideal hunting conditions.

Ben Delzelle representing Caro & Hooker, arrived up from Ketchikan on the Seattle, has his big line of samples displayed and is gathering in the business from local merchants.

New Postal Regulations

The postal department is making all kinds of new rules and regulations these days looking to the curtailment of expenses. Unless requested the return cards for registrations are no longer given; the form of the money order blanks have been changed; and an order has been issued doing away with the back stamping of letters at the offices in Alaska. This last order especially, meets with the unqualified approval of every postmaster in the district as it means a big saving of time where mail is received in large quantities.

Cannery Ship Sails

The Star of Greenland with the pack and crew of the local cannery, got away for San Francisco, Saturday morning. The Chilcat towed her out clear of the heads, the voyage thus far being made without any unusual incident. The Chilcat returned to port and reported Sunday evening.

Steamship Changes

The probabilities are that the steamer Senator of the Pacific Coast Steamship Co. will be put on the southeastern Alaska run early in November, taking the place of the Cottage City, the latter boat to be laid up for a thorough overhauling. The City of Seattle will be taken off the run shortly as will the Dolphin of the Alaska Steamship Co. The Humboldt Steamship Co. announce that their vessel will continue steadily on the run all winter. The Canadian Pacific company recently launched a new 18 knot vessel, the Princess Adelaide, which they will operate on this run during the tourist seasons.

Pete Boudreau is having his launch overhauled preparatory to going halibut fishing.

A hot box on the generator at the electric light plant resulted in a shutdown last night.

Will Downing was a passenger to Ketchikan on the Dolphin.

ANOTHER GOLD ROBBERY

This thing of stealing gold on its way between Alaska or the Yukon territory and Seattle is getting to be so common that even some of us who strive to be honest are becoming nervous about it says the Seattle Times. It would seem as though as a matter of "pride" we should get in, get a little busy, and take a little. The whole disgraceful business is becoming a joke.

It is certainly shameful that more care is not taken of the treasure which is entrusted to the express companies and the Royal and United States mails.

We have no fault to find with the mail clerks who suddenly find themselves looking into the barrel of a very large revolver over which is sent the the "wireless message" to be good and to hold one's hands above one's head. This is a matter to be decided at the time—an equation between the man who holds the gun and the man who is at the other end of it.

We would hesitate to call the man who elevated his hands a coward to about the same extent that we would hesitate in calling the man who refused to comply with such a command, a dumphool.

But when hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of gold are left carelessly about the staterooms of a steamer, so that a man with almost any kind of an instrument can break into the room where they are kept and where they are almost a vicious menace to any man who has the slightest taint of the criminal in his makeup, we believe that the people of the mail, express or steamship service—whoever they may be who are responsible for the general carelessness maintained—is more to be blamed for the consequences than the poor idiot who dares a robbery without the means of getting away with his ill-gotten gains.

The fall shipment of Montgomery Ward catalogues are here and the women are eagerly perusing them preparatory to the annual potlatch to that mail order house. From now on the money order and registered letter department of the local post office will be working a great deal of their time in the interests of the Chicago house, acting as receivers of money therefor.

It might be a good thing for the people to consider the Montgomery Ward graft. If ever Tanana needed the money which is annually sent outside to Montgomery Ward and the National Suit and Cloak company, that time is now. Tanana produces that money. It is paid out in wages here at Tanana salaries—not at Chicago salaries. It is only right that the things the people need should be bought at home—only by such reciprocity can the people of Tanana build up this city and camp. No part of the money sent outside in the purchase of goods ever comes back to the Tanana.—Fairbanks News-Miner.

The above applies just as pointedly to Wrangell as it does to Fairbanks. If you have a spark of local pride you will do your buying here, so that the money will remain at home where it rightfully belongs.

The Skagway Alaskan is hitting the mail order houses some telling blows. The paper will get its reward—in heaven.—Douglas Island News.

The building of the $40,000 residence for the governor at Juneau has been delayed many months by a hitch in the purchase of the site.

Webster's NEW INTERNATIONAL Dictionary, (G. & C. Merriam Co., Springfield, Mass.) surpasses the old International as much as that book exceeded its predecessor. On the old foundation a new superstructure has been built. The reconstruction has been carried on through many years by a large force of trained workers, under the supervision of Dr. W. T. Harris, former United States Commissioner of Education, and reinforced by many eminent specialists. The definitions have been rearranged and amplified. The number of terms defined has been more than doubled. The etymology, synonyms, pronunciation, have received unsparing scholarly labor. The language of English literature for over seven centuries, the terminology of the arts and sciences, and the every-day speech of street, shop, and household, are presented with fullness and clearness. In size of vocabulary, in richness of general information, and in convenience of consultation, the book sets a new mark in lexicography.

An agent of one of the steamship lines in Alaska has received so many letters from mothers seeking trace of sons who have disappeared in Alaska that he has hung the following sign in his office: "Remember this country has too many old mothers waiting at the gates for letters that rarely come. Write to her."

Come out to the Masquerade at Redmen's Hall tonight, everybody will be there.

John W. Frame, of more or less notoriety at Juneau and Cordova in the "reform" newspaper field, has been elected town judge at the latter place. John should be in a position to know at first hand of many of the failings and frailties of mankind here in the north and therefrom temper the particular brand of justice he will dish out with the mercy so necessary.

The whooping cough is spreading with great rapidity at Fairbanks.

L. P. Shackelford, national committeeman of the Republican party for Alaska, has returned to Juneau from a tour of the district.

An average sample taken across a 22-inch vein on Crow Creek, Kenai peninsula, gives a return of $1,292 per ton.
